

Put AN END To Doggy JUNK FOOD

As pet parents, we know that our companion animals depend solely upon us for their nutritional intake. And since good nutrition is necessary for our pets to live a long and healthy life, it is important to choose nutrient-rich treats as part of your pet's diet.

All of our Life's Abundance® baked treats provide nutrients to contribute to long-term health. And we firmly believe that there's no reason treats can't be nutritious and tasty. These treats are made in a bakery in small batches to guarantee freshness. Furthermore, they contain no artificial colors or flavors, nutritionally empty fillers or leftovers.

Our commitment to affect positive change in your dog's health is reflected in every single delicious bite.

Life's Abundance®

Baked Treats for Puppies & Adult Dogs

Few things bring more enjoyment to your dog than the reward of a treat. And it makes us feel good, too. The very act of giving a treat helps to solidify the bond that we share with our canine companions. Unfortunately, many of the canine snacks available on the market today are non-nutritive, and could be harmful to your dog's health. It is important to remember that even if you feed your dog a diet of healthy food, "junk food" treats could have a significant negative impact on his or her health.

Thankfully, you don't have to abandon this great way to reward your dog. That's why we approach our baked treats differently than other companies. When we formulate our baked cookies, we treat them as important vehicles for nutrition and pleasure.

All of these yummy products are uniquely formulated by our company veterinarian, Dr. Jane Bicks, to support good health through wholesome and nutritious ingredients.

Gourmet Dental Treats

Healthy teeth and gums are an important consideration for your dog's overall health. Poor dental hygiene can result in health consequences throughout the whole body, not just the mouth. A sound diet is a good foundation, but added nutrients like calcium and vitamin C can help support healthy teeth and bones. With Gourmet Dental Treats Honey Peanut Butter Recipe, you'll be helping to support dental health and treating your dog to oven-baked goodness!
